

What's in the New Constitution

Credible Elections, Independent Referees.

The Electoral Commission, now the National Electoral Commission, and chosen by Sierra Leoneans.

KEY POINTS

Independent Search and Nomination Committee.

Civil society, religious leaders, women, youth, media, legal and private sector voices.

Clear qualifications, fixed terms, age limits.

Stronger Elections Start With Independent Referees. The new constitution protects your vote.

What's in the New Constitution

Serious Rules For A Stronger Democracy in Sierra Leone.

KEY POINTS

Clear rules for party registration and oversight.

Fair hearings and court appeals guaranteed.

Democracy works best when parties represent people. The new amendment demands accountability from our political parties.

What's in the New Constitution

A NEW AND IMPROVED
CONSTITUTION

30 Percent Women. A Fairer Sierra Leone.

KEY POINTS

Minimum 30% women candidates.

Applies to national and local elections.

Opens doors to fair representation.

With the new constitution,
Sierra Leone stands for equal representation.

What's in the New Constitution

Fair Representation in Parliament.

Under President Maada Bio, parliamentary seats will reflect population and fairness, not politics.

KEY POINTS

District block representation.

Census-based seat allocation.

Clear rules to prevent last-minute manipulation.

The new constitution ensures every district gets fair representation. Support fair representation reforms.

What's in the New Constitution

Winning Must Reflect the Whole Nation.

Under the amendment, the President must win broad national support, not just numbers.

KEY POINTS

Simple majority plus nationwide spread.

Independent candidates allowed.

Clear run-off timelines.

Fixed election date every five years.

Let's protect our national unity through fair elections.

What's in the New Constitution

Peaceful Transitions Protect Stability And Democracy.

The new amendment strengthens orderly transfers of power in Sierra Leone.

KEY POINTS

No major appointments after elections.

No major contracts or institutional changes.

Clear limits on emergency powers.

Outgoing presidents will no longer tie the hands of the next government.

What's in the New Constitution

Parliament Must Serve, Not Overstay.

In the new constitution, clear rules safeguard Parliament's integrity.

KEY POINTS

Fixed five-year parliamentary term.

Strong disqualification rules for serious crimes.

Public officers must resign before contesting.

WHY IT MATTERS Public office is a trust, not a lifetime entitlement.

Support accountability in Parliament.

What's in the New Constitution

Our Security Forces Must Serve the Nation, Not Parties.

In the new constitution, the Police and Armed Forces must stay neutral in politics.

KEY POINTS

Constitutional ban on partisan conduct.

Protection against political intimidation.

A neutral security sector ensures a stronger democracy.

Protect professionalism in our security forces.

What's in the New Constitution

Stronger Rules. Fairer Elections. A Better Sierra Leone.

The constitutional amendment modernises elections, strengthens institutions, and protects democracy.

Learn. Engage. Support our constitutional reform.

